FIRE OR INSPIRE

Having someone on your team that isn't performing to your expectations is not only frustrating for you but it can cost you thousands in your business and even cause you to lose clients.

You are the boss and it is up to you to figure out if it is time to fire the employee or if they just need to be inspired to improve their performance. This training is designed to take you step by step through identifying the performance issue and what to do when you find yourself wondering if the person is the right fit.
